Wise Talks by the Office Boy

The old man says, "Cheer up and hustle; it's the fear of what may happen that makes gray hair and wrinkles. If it required no brains, no energy, no work, there would be no glory in achievement. The business man needs a cheerful philosophy to sustain him in his days. He needs nerve and faith and patience. The country has its ups and downs. Business is better some years than others, but if things come too easy, there would be no incentive to go ahead." Our business is very satisfactory. It should be, as we give the greatest values in the city for your money. Take our $15 suits, for instance. Many stores ask $18 and $20 for them without blushing. We've values in men's and young men's suits from $7.50 to $30. Come; see us.

RAISE MORE MONEY FOR HER SCHOOLS

Sussex Supervisors Double County Levy and Also Increase District Levy.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

SUSSEX C. H., Va., June 19.—The regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors in Sussex on Thursday was particularly significant from an educational standpoint. Many of the leading citizens of the county were present, some of them having come long distances for the special purpose of attending this meeting. It was the unanimous opinion that the entire salary scale of the public school teachers of that county should be immediately and substantially increased. No white school in the county will run less than eight months next season, and the average monthly salary will be about $40. Heretofore the county school levy has been 10 cents and the district school levy 10 cents also, except in Henry District, which had 15 cents last year, and Wakefield District, which had 20 cents. By unanimous vote of the Board of Supervisors, the county school levy was increased to 20 cents and the district levy to 15 cents in all of the districts except Wakefield, which continues its 20-cent rate of district levy.

The active members on the side of the school officials were Superintendent W. W. Edwards and Messrs. G. T. Partridge, S. F. Garter, J. R. Bell, R. T. West, N. A. Savage and W. H. Moore. The members of the Board of Supervisors are Messrs. S. B. Ellis, J. A. Brittle, A. J. Hawks, E. J. Parsons, T. A. West and M. T. Edwards.

Mr. R. C. Stearns, secretary of the State Board of Education, and Superintendent W. W. Edwards addressed the Board of Supervisors in advocacy of the plan that was adopted.

One of the handsomest school buildings in the State has been erected in the town of Wakefield and a similar structure will soon go up in the town of Wakefield. Improvements in roads and bridges also attest the advancing spirit of progress which presides over the policies of the present Board of Supervisors of Sussex.

WILL REBUILD AT ONCE.

Will Not Allow Farmers to Suffer as Result of Fire.

NORFOLK, Va., June 19.—Manager L. B. East, of the Farmers' Manufacturing Company, announces that the barrel and crate factory destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon will be rebuilt at once, and he has already ordered in every particular. The total loss is now estimated at $112,000, the plant having a large quantity of knock-down crates stored to meet the demands of the truckers.

Mr. East also announced that in order not to delay the truckers who depend on his company for barrels and crates, the factory of the corporation at Suffolk will be operated night and day and in this manner he believes the demand, with the stock on hand at Suffolk, can be supplied.

MANY TEACHERS AT SUMMER SCHOOL

Over Three Hundred Enrolled on Opening Day at University.

MANY STATES REPRESENTED

Delegations from Montana, Texas, Georgia and Florida—Dr. Page Makes an Address.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., June 19.—From present indications the Summer School of the University of Virginia, which opened this morning and closes with the examination for teachers on July 29th, 30th and 31st, will have the largest attendance in the history of the school. On the first day 300 students are enrolled.

The opening exercises, held in Cabell Hall, were presided over by Professor Bruce R. Payne, and seated upon the platform were some twenty-odd members of the faculty.

Address by Dr. Page.

In the absence of President Alderman the teachers were cordially welcomed by Dr. James Morris Page, dean of the university, who, in his opening remarks, referred to the following measures, which Dr. Alderman had carried through, looking to the unification of the secondary and higher educational systems of the State.

"The institution of properly graded entrance requirements—for the protection of the high school, of the college, and of the student himself; the differentiation of the college, as the place for the high school graduate, from the department of graduate study; the creation of two professorships of education, to help in training teachers, and the founding of the summer school, primarily for teachers, of a rank unique in the Southern States, inasmuch as credit is given for the college for certain of our summer school courses."

In conclusion, Dr. Page said:

"There has been no more important change in public education, and in so-called conditions, in recent years than that marked by the opening of this school; and there is no more important line of work in which the State University can assist in the upbuilding of the State than the training of teachers for the high schools. In performing this duty for the State, the college is giving teachers the opportunity to receive certain of our summer school courses."

Many States Represented.

Other addresses were made by Professor Alphonse Smith, dean of the University of North Carolina, and by Dr. S. C. Mitchell, of Richmond College. Dr. Bruce Payne spoke of the number of teachers who had come from distant States. One delegation registered this morning from Texas, another from Georgia, another from Florida, and still another from Montana. "I would not be surprised," he said, "if something like sixteen or eighteen States are represented in our midst this summer."

SITE FOR THE NORMAL.

Workings of a Press Clipping Bureau.

It has come to be a necessity that any one whose name ever appears in a newspaper must be a subscriber to press clippings, still there are few who understand anything about the workings of such a bureau. People take press clippings because in no other way they learn how many papers throughout the country print stories concerning them. They must have a bureau to read every paper published. Then every line concerning them reaches their hands.

There are several press clipping bureaus in the United States, but before becoming a subscriber one should understand just what bureau to deal with. This is necessary, because in order to read 5,000 different publications one must have a large area of working space, and the best way to get this is by having a bureau with three and four workers. The largest bureau in the world, that is the Burrelle Press Clipping Bureau in New York, reads every publication issued, has 2,000 square feet of space, and has 100 workers.

There are dozens of departments in the Burrelle Bureau, but the one spectacular feature is the work of those who actually read the papers. These readers sit before an inclined desk on which the paper rests. The reader reads the column, not pencil following the lines with lightning-like rapidity. The moment she sees the name of a client, down goes the pencil and a mark is put under the name. The marvelous part is, that the reader must bear in mind something like 80,000 names. It is a feat of memory that almost passes human understanding, and it is done day in and day out. The reader's mind is kept active on these subjects in a daily school of instruction. For an hour each day the reader sits silently before their desk while a forewoman takes up a list of customers, and one by one calls out the names and explains their wants. It takes ten days, an hour each day, to complete the list. On the eleventh day the forewoman begins over again. So the routine goes on, week in and week out.

Any one who hasn't a press clipping bureau or any one who hasn't the largest in the world, should write a large address simply "Burrelle, New York City," which will put them in immediate touch with every paper published.

HEADS OF GIRLS' SCHOOLS TO MEET

Principals and Teachers of Institutions Exclusively for Women to Gather.

TO CO-ORDINATE STANDARDS

Effort Being Made to Arrange Harmonious Plan of Teaching in Girls' Schools.

SWEET BRIAR, VA., June 19.—The first three days of next week will see a notable gathering of the heads and teachers of schools for girls in Virginia. The Virginia Association of Colleges and Schools for Girls, inaugurated in the Woman's Club of Richmond, and entertained last year by the Randolph-Macdonald Women's College, and accepted the generous invitation of Sweet Briar College, and will hold its annual meeting at that institution.

The executive committee, consisting of Miss Cooke, of Hollins; Dr. Benedict, of Sweet Briar; Dr. Jarman and Miss Coulting, of Farmville, and Mr. Davis, of Petersburg, held a meeting at Farmville in March, where arrangements were made to hold the regular annual meeting on June 23d and 24th, so that the members might have an opportunity to attend also the Charlottesville Conference of Colleges and High Schools. A kind invitation was received at that time to have the Association of Schools for Girls meet along with the larger association, but it was thought best, in view of the special problems confronting the schools for girls, to have the meeting an independent one, as heretofore, and to accept the generous invitation of Sweet Briar. All the members of the association will be the guests of the institution during the conference.

To Co-ordinate Standards.

Preliminary to the regular meeting on Tuesday evening, a meeting of the committee of fifteen will be held at Sweet Briar on Monday evening. This committee of fifteen was appointed by the president of the association, Professor Arthur Kyle Davis, in accordance with a resolution passed in the last annual meeting, and after conference with the executive committee. The Monday evening session of the committee of fifteen will be devoted to the effort to formulate some practicable plan for the co-ordination of standards of colleges and schools for girls in Virginia. This is probably the most important and difficult question confronting the association.

The members of the committee of fifteen who will attempt its solution: Miss Mattie L. Cooke, president of Hollins Institute; Dr. Mary K. Benedict, president of Sweet Briar College; Dr. Arthur Kyle Davis, president of Southern Female College; (c) report of committee of fifteen; discussion of report.

Wednesday morning, June 24th, 10 A. M.—General discussion of school problems: (a) "The Teaching of Physics in Schools for Girls," Professor M. Estes Cooke, Hollins Institute; (b) "The Place and Function of the Normal School," Dr. E. E. Jones, Farmville Normal School; "Five-Minute Talks on School Problems," general discussion.

Wednesday evening, June 24th, 8:30 P. M.—Symposium on the Study of English: (a) "College-Preparatory English," Dr. J. M. McBride, Jr., Sweet Briar College; (b) "The Other Side of Freshman English," Miss Elizabeth B. Cleveland, Hollins Institute; (c) "College English," Dr. F. G. Woodward, Richmond Woman's College; (d) "Five-Minute Talks on English," general discussion.

List of Speakers.

In addition to these members of the association, an advisory committee of five members has been requested to aid in the discussion of questions relating to the summer session of Bryn Mawr College, president of the Association; Mrs. A. H. Tuttle, of the University of Virginia, one of the active organizers of the association; Dr. F. V. N. Painter, formerly of Roanoke College; Dr. C. Mitchell, of Richmond College; and Dr. C. W. Kent, of the University of Virginia, the presiding officer of the first meeting for organization at the Woman's Club in Richmond, have been invited by the executive committee to aid in this important work.

A number of timely and interesting papers and addresses are promised for this session of the association. At the opening session on Tuesday night an address of welcome will be made by Dr. Benedict, president of Sweet Briar College, followed by the president's annual address, by Professor Arthur Kyle Davis, president of Southern Female College, of Petersburg, on the subject, "The Delectable and Obnoxious Side of the Normal School." The session of the association will follow, in which the report of the committee of fifteen may be taken up.

Function of Normal Schools.

The morning session on Wednesday offers two papers of special interest to the members of the association, one by Dr. E. E. Jones, of the Farmville Normal School, on "The Place and Function of the Normal School." These papers will be followed by an informal discussion of a number of questions relating to the normal school work propounded by various members of the association, and it is expected that Dr. Campbell and Dr. Arnold, of Randolph-Macon Woman's College, will contribute to the program at this point.

At the evening session of Wednesday there will be a symposium on the study of English, including three strong papers, as follows: "College-Preparatory English," by Mr. J. M. McBride, Jr., of Sweet Briar College; "The Other Side of Freshman English," by Miss Elizabeth B. Cleveland, of Hollins Institute, and "College English," by Dr. F. G. Woodward, of the Woman's College of Richmond.

This Sweet Briar meeting promises to be a notable one, not only in respect to the important questions and interesting phases of educational work presented, but also in bringing together so many members of the normal school and college world of the South. Instead of adhering to a fixed program of papers, which was the plan followed at the Randolph-Macon meeting last year, the whole time of the association will be given to the informal discussion of topics of present interest to the members.

The half-dozen papers mentioned above have been provided as a basis for discussion, and the membership of the association is such that every phase of work and opinion may be found at the meeting. The report of the committee of fifteen will certainly be of great interest to all present, and many varying interests must be reconciled before any stable and satisfactory solution of the problems of co-ordination in Virginia may be found. The members of the committee of fifteen, who are expected to arrive at Sweet Briar on Monday, while all the other members of the association will probably reach there on Tuesday. Only the officers and teachers of colleges and schools exclusively for girls are eligible for membership, and it is a promising sign of the times that the men and women engaged in the education of girls in Virginia are treating the problems of their profession with so much of earnestness and sagacity.

Wednesday morning, June 24th, 10 A. M.—General discussion of school problems: (a) "The Teaching of Physics in Schools for Girls," Professor M. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

ALEXANDRIA, Va., June 19.—The second ordination held during the week took place at 11 o'clock this morning at the Episcopal Theological Seminary of Virginia, west of this city, in the chapel of that institution. The sermon was preached by Rev. Robert A. Goodwin, rector of St. John's Church, Richmond, and was an earnest and effective discourse, suitable to the solemn occasion. Bishop Peterkin, of West Virginia, took the whole ordination service in the absence of the other bishops either in or on their way to Europe.

The services this morning were of a very impressive character.
